The Honorable Steven Mnuchin Secretary U.S. Department of the Treasury 1500 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW Washington, DC 20220

Dear Secretary Mnuchin:

The undersigned organizations urge the Treasury Department to issue interim guidance with respect to drafting errors that were made to the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act ("Act") -- provisions dealing with qualified improvement property ("QIP") and net operating losses ("NOL"). The signatories to this letter may have an interest in one but not necessarily both of the provisions but recognize the need to have them both resolved on an expeditious basis. The delay in correcting these provisions has caused economic hardship for some retailers, restaurants, members of the real estate industry, and suppliers of building products, and is also delaying investments across the economy that impact the communities in which these companies are doing business. This also results in safety concerns because, in some cases, it is causing a delay in upgrading existing sprinkler systems, creating a more perilous situation for our nation's firefighters.

At the outset, it is important to note that it is widely acknowledged that both the QIP and NOL provisions contain unintended drafting errors such that the provisions do not currently operate consistent with Congressional intent – there are no policy or technical objections suggesting that these drafting errors should not be corrected.

The drafting error in the QIP provision causes improvements to buildings to be written off over 39 years instead of one year as contemplated under the Act. As a result, a taxpayer gets to write off only 2.5% of their improvement costs in the year the expenditures are made, and 97.5% over the remaining 38 years, instead of writing off 100% of the cost in the year the expenditures are made. This very large difference in the after-tax cost of making improvements is causing a delay in some store and restaurant remodeling projects, as well as causing some retailers to decline opportunities to purchase or lease new store locations that would require substantial improvements. These decisions not only deny communities the jobs associated with substantial construction projects, but also deny our communities the opportunity to bring new, permanent jobs to an otherwise abandoned store or to revitalize a declining mall. The delayed investment in remodeling projects is also causing a decline in sales by manufacturers that supply products used in remodels, like energy-efficient lighting and plumbing supplies.

The drafting error in the NOL provision imposes a retroactive tax increase on businesses that are in loss positions and already facing liquidity issues. The error in the effective date of the provision that eliminates NOL carrybacks means that businesses that were expecting a carryback for their tax years that began in 2017, before it was known if tax reform would pass and which tax code provisions would be modified by tax reform, will not be receiving the cash that is owed them until some time in the future. This timing difference is critical to cash-strapped businesses that were counting on the carryback to finance continuing operations, as well as investments needed to revitalize their businesses.

We urge the Treasury Department to issue guidance that will assure that these provisions are administered as intended by Congress, avoiding the need for amended returns and releasing associated economic activity. At a minimum, such guidance should provide that the Internal Revenue Service will not challenge taxpayers who take positions with respect to the QIP and NOL provisions that are consistent with Congressional intent. If guidance is not issued by November 15, 2018, the extended due date for FY 2017 tax returns for most retailers, the retail signatories on this letter will have to file thousands of amended federal, state and local income tax returns when the provision is later clarified. They will also need to re-book the qualified improvement property assets in their Fixed Asset Management Systems, which may require hundreds of additional man hours of work for each business. The additional regulatory burdens associated with further delay of guidance with respect to these provisions are antithetical to the policy behind Executive Order 13789, requesting the Treasury Department to reduce tax regulatory burdens.

We urge you to issue guidance that will facilitate the intent of the law and eliminate the imposition of large additional tax compliance and accounting burdens on taxpayers, as well as associated tax enforcement burdens on the Internal Revenue Service.

Sincerely,

Aaron's
